I strongly believe that studying together is extremely necessary for individuals. Firstly, the world is not separated for males and females. In the childhood people tend to be less vulnerable to failures in relations. In consequence at school they learn how to socialise with another sex, which assists them in avoiding social mistakes in the future. Secondly, while studying together pupils may find out some psychological features of another gender. Nevertheless, there is another point of view on this issue. Some conservatives claim that productivity and efficiency of getting education will increase, if pupils are taught separately. Psychologists have already proved that boys have natural abilities to technical subjects, while girls are likely to be skilled at mastering humanities.

"Paul's book Pulling It All Together is honest, practical, and packed with the absolute best beauty secrets. A must-buy for every woman that wants to be her most fabulous!" - Vivica A. Fox, actress and producer

"The industry is lucky to have Paul, he's fantastic!" - Betsey Johnson, fashion designer

"This is essential reading for all women. As a producer, I've been lucky to have Paul's on-camera advice, helping women look and feel their best over the years. So, it's no surprise that he's written a book to help the rest of us get HAPPY!" - Bevy Smith, host of "Bevelations Radio," SiriusXM, and former host of Bravo's Fashion Queens.

"[Paul Wharton is] the perfectly coiffed D.C. personality who pops up in all the Instagrammable places." - the Washington Post.

"They've all given me so much good advice over the years. It's sometimes very difficult to make decisions on your own. Listening to advice can be great for helping you make the right decision. The greatest piece of advice I've received was from my father. He told me I can do anything in life if I try hard. He was right. I am now passing on his advice to my own children. Right now I need some advice on money. My financial advisors are telling me to be very careful. That's very sound advice. I would advise anyone to do the same. Someone asked me the other day about the worst piece of advice I've ever heard.

"Paul's book Pulling It All Together is honest, practical, and packed with the absolute best beauty secrets. A must-buy for every woman that wants to be her most fabulous!" - Vivica A. Fox, actress and producer

"The industry is lucky to have Paul, he's fantastic!" - Betsey Johnson, fashion designer

"This is essential reading for all women. As a producer, I've been lucky to have Paul's on-camera advice, helping women look and feel their best over the years. And now, I'm thrilled that he's helping everyone else pull it all together!" - Bevy Smith, host of "Bevelations Radio," SiriusXM, and former host of Bravo's Fashion Queens.

"[Paul Wharton is] the perfectly coiffed D.C. personality who pops up in all the Instagrammable places." - the Washington Post.

"They've all given me so much good advice over the years. It's sometimes very difficult to make decisions on your own. Listening to advice can be great for helping you make the right decision. The greatest piece of advice I've received was from my father. He told me I can do anything in life if I try hard. He was right. I am now passing on his advice to my own children. Right now I need some advice on money. My financial advisors are telling me to be very careful. That's very sound advice. I would advise anyone to do the same. Someone asked me the other day about the worst piece of advice I've ever heard.