The Historical Collections of the Topsfield Historical Society, Volume 11 #Topsfield Historical Society #The Society, 1906 #1906

"Index Topsfield historical collections, volumes I-X": v. 10, p. 145-152; "Index Topsfield historical collections, volumes XI-XX": v. 20, p. 109-115. Notes. Page 112, (also pg. 63 towards the back of the book) in previously copied book is blurry down the middle. (Other blurry pages as well.) There are no chapters. There is no copyright page. The Topsfield Historical Society is dedicated to the study and preservation of the history of Topsfield Massachusetts. All volunteers, we are active participants in the vitality and character of our small town. We invite all Topsfield residents and those interested in the preservation of our town’s history to join in on our many opportunities to be involved. Sharing the Love of History. We offer monthly talks on a wide variety of historical topics such as colonial slavery, women’s history, Boston history and historical actors such as Eleanor Roosevelt and Mark Twain. We run educational programs for Topsfield schools and local children. Every June, we sponsor the Strawberry Festival which features Topsfield’s local nonprofit organizations, local history exhibits and local craftspeople. Topsfield Historical Society 1 Howlett St, Topsfield, Massachusetts 01983 rated 5 based on 1 review “Very Unique place.” Summer begins in Topsfield The second Saturday in June marks the beginning of summer with the Topsfield Historical Society’s major fundraising event: The Annual Strawberry Festival. Bowls and bowls of fresh strawberries, whipped cream and piles of shortcakes are prepared and served by our volunteer